Limestone College
QEP title: Achieving Writing Excellence
Director: Erin Pushman, Assistant Professor of English, epushman@limestone.edu

Limestone College’s Achieving Writing Excellence (AWE) Program is designed to improve the writing skills of all students through the development of a comprehensive college-wide writing program that will support all faculty and students. To establish the AWE Program, Limestone College has taken the actions described below.

- Identified Learning Outcomes and Objectives
  LC graduates will employ the writing process to:
  - Extend and deepen their own learning through writing
    - Write informally
    - Write formally
    - Communicate their learning through writing
  - Articulate a question of some significance and address that question effectively in their writing
    - Develop an original focus/idea/viewpoint/thesis
    - Support this focus with materials appropriate to the audience and the purpose of writing
    - Use Standard Academic English
  - Employ appropriate disciplinary conventions as outlined in APA, MLA, Chicago, etc.
  - Demonstrate and describe the process(es) they use to revise and edit their own drafts.
    - Use appropriate skills and tools to revise and edit their writing
    - Reflect on writing and thought processes and articulate that reflection through writing

- Created the Professional Faculty Development Program
  The AWE Core Faculty increases in size each year as established AWE Core Faculty mentor incoming faculty. Faculty members participate in a four-day retreat followed by intensive semester-long seminars.

- Identified Writing Intensive Courses (WICs)
  Each academic department works in conjunction with the AWE Committee to identify WICs. Proposed WICs are approved by the AWE Committee, and WIC instructors receive AWE faculty development.

- Implemented Enrollment Caps for Writing Intensive Courses
  The enrollment cap of 22 enables faculty to create courses around the AWE Student Learning Outcomes, incorporate writing as process pedagogy, and maintain best practices in writing instruction.

- Enhanced Support for Students through the Writing Center and the Online Writing Lab (LC OWL)
  The expanded Writing Center includes on-line peer tutoring in the form of the LC OWL and the Writing Center to serve the needs of students across all instructional formats.

- Developed the AWE Assessment Plan
  The assessment plan includes both departmental and longitudinal assessments and uses the AWE Writing Guide.

- Designated the AWE Budget
  The AWE budget designates sufficient funds to implement and sustain the AWE Program.

- Implemented the Timetable
  The timetable breaks down the major tasks needed to implement, schedule, and continue the year-to-year administration of the AWE Program.

- Assigned AWE Program Administration Personnel
  Course release time is given to the Director, Co-Director, and Writing Program Assistant, who will teach writing courses because involvement in the teaching of writing is essential to administering a writing program.

- Founded AWE Committee
  The AWE Committee is composed of faculty from across the disciplines and from all segments of the institution.
